

What We Do at Avaib

Avaib was founded in 2004 as a multinational technology and consulting company that provides various ICT solutions to companies around the globe.

We provide various solutions in product engineering, IT services, cloud computing, mobile application development and SaaS applications with expertise in cloud computing technology by Microsoft and Amazon. Being the pioneers and experts in cloud technology, we have developed an array of products that have evolved over the years. These state-of-the-art products are now helping our clients grow their business without the hassles of managing on-premise infrastructure.

We also offer consultancy services to companies that want to implement cloud computing technologies within their organization. Our sound technical background and expertise helps to effectively manage applications in a SaaS environment. We believe every new innovation or product concept needs a great team that can enable market reach.
